GOOD OUT OF NAZARETH.

An Old and Respected Citizen Passes over The River.

MANY FRIENDS ATTEND THE FUNERAL.

Last Saturday afternoon the subject of this writing paid the debt due from all the living.

"Uncle Perry" as he was familiarly called, was one of the kindest and one of the best citizens of Adair county known to everybody, as he had been a weekly visitor to Columbia since early boyhood. To our knowledge he never had trouble with any man—a peacemaker by nature, he met you with a smile, and in parting gave you hand a warm clasp. He was born near where he died March 28, 1885, making him 91 years, four months and four days old. He was a son of William Hancock, who served under Washington in the Revolutionary war.

Sixty-five years ago "Uncle" Perry confessed his Savior, joined the Christian church, and lived a consistent member until his death. He was three times married. His last wife was Miss Elizabeth Cravens, who survives him together with four children.

The funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon by Eld. Z. T. Williams, many relatives and friends being present.

To the widow and other surviving members of the family, we desire to extend our deepest sympathy.

Complaints reach this office, made by residents of Columbia, of the filth condition of the back alleys and other places in town. The odor arising from the filth is calculated to bring disease unless something is done to put Columbia in the better sanitary condition. The health officer has notified the town authorities through the county papers of this lamentable state of affairs, yet no steps have been taken, so far as we know, to heed his notices. He has also, as we have been informed, given notices to property owners to cleanse their premises and scatter disinfectants. Do not wait until disease strikes the town, then begin the work of cleaning up, but do it now in order that the community may retain its good, healthy condition. Columbia pays about $2,000 taxes and some of that money should be expended in keeping the town free from filth.

LOGS WANTED.

We are now located where Hurt Bros., did business and are ready to buy logs on our yard. Will pay the highest cash price. Standard Hardwood Lumber Co. W. D. Frazier and Walker Bryant, Managers.

35-tf Columbia, Ky.

Dr. R. H. Perryman, of the eastern portion of the county, spent a few days last week with his Columbia friends. He reported that crops were good on Green River and that the farmers were jubilant. He also stated that there was some sickness in his locality, but there were no cases of a serious nature. The doctor is one of the oldest practitioners in Adair County, having entered the profession 43 years ago.

Mr. Jo Ellison, who lives on Disappointment is in a critical and most painful condition. He has a cancer in his mouth, and it is said by those who have visited him that his suffering is constant and not a remedy used alleviates the pain. It is further said that in order to give his family as little trouble as possible that he spends much of his time alone, in the woods. A cancer is a terrible affliction, and we never see a person who becomes a victim to the disease, but who has our sympathy.

It is not often that Jewels come from Belle county, but in conductor M. O. Winfrey, Owen county seems to have found a jewel. Belle county is one of the most intensely Republican counties in the State. Yet what few Democrats live in that mountain fastness are Died in the wool." Mr. Winfrey who is conducting the Owen County Teacher's Institute is from Belle county. He is one of the best educators in the State and would make a splendid Superintendent of schools. Bob Ford, who lives in Middlesboro, says that Mr. Winfrey is all right, and that is a certificate of character in this part of the world. Professor Winfrey has rendered valuable services to the school interests of Kentucky. For several years past he has been the most active educational worker in the State, and is the first real leader the teachers of this State have produced since the death of Ed Porter Thompson. We predict the election of Mr. Winfrey at the November election, and the people of Kentucky and the Democratic party will do a good days work when they put him at the head of their educational institutions.—Owen County Democrat.

APPROACHING UNION.

Mr. R. Mont Feese to Wed Miss Ella M. Flowers, Both of Columbia.

NO CARDS—A QUIET HOME AFFAIR.

This Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. J. D. Flowers, who lives on Greensburg street, Mr. R. Mont Feese, a deserving and an industrious young man, who is an attachment of this office, will be married to Miss Ella M. Flowers, one of Columbia's best and popular young ladies. This union will be the culmination of one and a half years courtship, and will not come as a surprise to the intimate friends of the contracting parties.

The ceremony will be impressively pronounced by Rev. W. H. C. Sandidge, pastor of the bride.

In advance of the happy event, the many friends of the couple desire, though the News, to extend their best wishes, trusting that their days may be long upon the earth, and as they go hand in hand down life's pathway may no obstacles appear to mar the happiness that delighted hearts enjoy.

SANDERS—MOSS.

The home of Mr. J. M. Campbell, in the quiet little village of Pellyton, on the waters of Green River, was the place of a joyous gathering last Saturday evening, August the 4th. The occasion was the celebration of the marriage between Prof. Richard R. Moss and Miss Lynnie Sanders. When the bridal couple appeared on the front veranda a large company of friends had gathered in the yard. The bride was very pretty in a beautiful dress of white. The impressive ritual service of the Methodist Church was said by Rev. A. R. Kasey, of Columbia.

Immediately following the ceremony a sumptuous feast was spread to which more than a hundred guests sat down. Mrs. Moss is a daughter of Mrs. J. M. Campbell, of Pellyton. She was a student in the Lindsay-Wilson Training School last year, and pursued her studies with serious devotion. She possesses those graces that give to womanhood its charms.

Prof. Moss is at the head of the Normal Department in the Lindsay-Wilson, and during his three years connection with the institution, has made a very enviable reputation as an educator.

After the honeymoon, Prof. and Mrs. Moss will return to Columbia, where they will make their home. Prof. Moss continues his connection with the school.

Mr. Henry Aaron, who is selling goods at Denmark, Russell County, in partnership with his brothers, Edward and Allen, was in Columbia last Wednesday. It will be remembered that last May, one year ago, these young men were burned out and every dollar they had was swept away. But with the determination to again get on top, they went to Louisville, laid their circumstances before the wholesale merchants.

Their frankness pleased the business men of the city and they were furnished all the goods necessary and again opened their store. Honesty is what makes men. They have enjoyed fine success and the men have paid off a great deal of debt. Their loss by the fire was

Dr. W. R. Grissom, who accompanied Mrs. Charlotte Patterson to Meridian, Texas, returned home last Friday afternoon.

He reports that after the first day Mrs. Patterson sold the long trip well, and that he left her in fine spirits. She is very much interested in Adair county, and wanted to be kept posted concerning local affairs, hence she sent a dollar, and ordered the News forwarded to her address. Dr. Grissom visited several cities in Texas, meeting many Kentuckians, finding them generally well and getting along nicely. At Hillsboro he met Tyler Chandler, Scott Walker and others.

He failed to see Porter Strange, who was out of town, traveling for the hours he represents. He further stated that the crops in Texas are better than for many years.

Miss Margaret Walker, of Nell, gave a delightful social last Saturday evening, in honor of Miss Eva Wilson, of Bowling Green. All the young people of the neighborhood answered to invitations. The following Columbians were present: Mr. John L. Walker and Miss Bessie Rowe; Mr. Bruce Montgomery and Miss Kate Watker; Mr. Herschel Baker, this place, and Miss Pearl Hindman, of Gradyville; Mr. John Flowers, Columbia, and Miss Alice Hindman, of Missouri.

Don't squander your money by helping to pay the salary and traveling expenses of sewing machine agents, and then get an inferior machine, but come to us and buy a "Standard" the best sewing machine made for $25 cash. We have other good machines at $25, $15 and $20. RUSSELL & CO. 39-2t

In the parlors of the Hancock Hotel, last Tuesday night at the midnight hour, Mr. Eldridge Stotts was married to Miss Amanda M. Campbell. Judge Junius Hancock performed the ceremony. The couple live in the Breeding country, and immediately after the ceremony left for their future home.

FOR SALE—My farm of 100 acres on Sulphur Creek, 3 miles from Columbia.

About 20 acres of first class bottom and 40 acres of upland in cultivation, balance in timber. Good location, plenty of fine water. Building only moderate. Will sell at a bargain if taken early.

As an evidence that Columbia is a fine stock town you have only to read the sales made last Wednesday, published in the "Land, Stock and Crop column."

Men from various portions of the country were here with mules and about $7000 changed hands.

COMING CONFERENCE.

The Church of the United Brethren of Kentucky will hold their annual conference in Columbia this year. The meeting will be in October, and the services and business will be at the Presbyterian Church. It is our understanding that there are between thirty and forty ministers in the Conference, many of them able men. Columbia once a year, has had the pleasure of hearing a Bishop of this denomination, and invariably extraordinary good sermons have been delivered. This town will take pleasure in entertaining the Conference.

Judge Sam Gann, who removed from Russell county to Lincoln county last year, will return to Jamestown this Fall. He has purchased the stock of goods from Mrs. Belle Patterson and the inventory will be taken the first of October. Mr. Gann is an experienced merchant, having spent many years behind the counter. His friends throughout Russell county will be glad to learn that he is going to return to his old home.

We are ready to buy all kinds of merchantable timber in the log on our yard in Columbia. The mill will be cutting in a few days. Standard Hardwood Lumber Co. See W. D. FRAZIER or WALKER BRYANT. 39-tf

Notice.

Four monuments that sold at $75 can now be bought at $60; four that sold for $25 now $20, one that sold at $30 now $25. When these are closed out no more can be had at these prices.

COAKLEY & SIMMS BROS.

Mrs. Polly George, who lived near Denmark, died last week. She was the mother of Robt. George and was about 75 years old. She was a victim of a cancer.

Ed. Lawrence Williams will assist his father, Eld. Z. T. Williams, in a meeting to begin at Cane Valley on Monday night after the fourth Sunday in this month.

Mr. Tim Bradshaw is the most successful grape cultivator in Columbia. For a bunch of this delicious fruit, grown by him, we desire to extend our thanks.

The three bridges on Butler's branch (Camp Creek) has been replaced by Josh Butler and a good job, the approaches well filled with rock and gravel.

The Columbia Fair Association put its track in first class condition last week. Up to date the prospects for an interesting fair was never better.

The Record book kept by the late Judge J. W. Atkins is missing. If any person knows where it is, the information is wanted at this office. 38-2

The Adair County News.

Published Every Wednesday

BY THE

Adair County News Company.

INCORPORATED.

CHAS. S. HARRIS, - EDITOR.

Democratic newspaper devoted to the interests of the city of Columbia and the people of Adair and adjacent counties.

Entered at the Columbia Postoffice as second-class mail matter.

WED., AUGUST 8, 1906.

The Sub-committee has figured that the cost of the Democratic State primary will be $40,000. The entrance fee of the candidates for United States Senator is fixed at $4,000 each, there being two candidates. There are two announced candidates for Governor and they will have to pay $3,000 each. For the minor offices the assessment is from $2,500 to $4,000. This paper was opposed to the calling of a primary and gave its reasons for its opinion some time ago. We believe that as much fraud can be perpetrated in primary as in a convention, and a convention does not break a candidate to go before it.

Of all the aspirants announced and unannounced, including the eligibles, for Governor it appears that Adair county Democrats had rather vote for Hon. Ollie James than for any other man in the State. Neither Mr. Hager nor Mr. Hays seem to be ideal with many since one is regarded as a powerful wheel in the machine and the other too severe a critic. The fact is that Mr. James is the only man that measures up to the full satisfaction and should he enter the race would make a clean sweep in this part of the State.

Democrats are beginning to make up their minds and give expression as to their choice in the large list of entries now in the field for Democratic honors. The contests for Governor and Senators over shadows all others and in both instances it is a hard position for many to determine who should be placed on the ticket. At this time it would be mere guess work to put any man in the lead.

Allen Mathis, a negro brute, who assaulted Miss Ethel McLean a white girl and the telephone operator at Mayfield, was given quick justice last Wednesday. He was tried, convicted and executed in less than one hour. He confessed his guilt.

W. M. Brown married Miss Bettie Perry, of Bessemer, City, N. C. In one hour after the ceremony John M. Kincaid shot and killed the bridegroom, shooting him five times. Under promise of marriage Brown had ruined Kincaid's sister.

It is predicted that Wm. Hearst will be the Democratic nominee for Governor of New York.

I have 44 acres of beautiful land adjoining the campus of the Lindsay-Wilson Training School, that I will sell in whole or in part. Location unexcelled and perfect title will be made. Call on or address, Mrs. A. L. Neway, Columbia, Ky.

LISLETON

We are having lots of rain in this section. The big rain we had last Monday did a great deal of damage on Greasy creek.

Mrs. Bob Mitchell has been in Louisville for the past two weeks being treated for catarrh. She has had a bone taken from her nose.

Dr. E. F. Taylor and J. A. Hubbard have returned from Texas. Mr. Hubbard purchased land but we didn't learn how much. Dr. Taylor bought a big hotel and will remove his family there in a short time. We regret to see the Doctor and his family leave and wish them health and prosperity.

Mrs. J. A. Hubbard's health is improving sufficiently to visit around.

Mrs. A. W. Curry, who has been in a very critical condition for some time, is not much better.

Our school which is being taught by Miss Mattie Wilcox, is progressing nicely.

The young people of this place visit Sulphur Well every Sunday.

There was quarterly meeting at Houghs Chapel Saturday and Sunday which was largely attended.

Will Lyons was with our merchants one day last week.

OBITUARY.

On May 19th the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Watson, of Lebanon and took from them their oldest son, Finis. His death was due to consumption. He was on his return from New Mexico where he had been to try to regain his health.

Finis A. Watson was married to Miss Ida Yates, November 19th 1902. To this union were born two children, both of which have been called to Him who said "Suffer little children to come unto me." Tha oldest child died just four months before, and the youngest, one month after the death of their father. A while before he died he called his loved ones to his bedside, bade them good bye, and asked them to meet him in heaven.

We would say to his loved ones; weep not as those who have no hope, for Finis is now with friends in heaven, singing songs of praise to Christ, waiting and watching for loved ones to come. May we all live to meet him.

Our sympathy goes out to his many friends and relatives, and especially to his bereaved wife, but our loss is his eternal gain.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Prather, and the remains were laid to rest in the Lebanon cemetery.

On that bright and cloudless morning, when the dead in Christ shall rise; We shall meet to sing forever In that home beyond the skies.

There we'll meet our long gone loved ones,

On that happy golden shore;

And we'll see our blessed savior; And His holy name adore.

A FRIEND.

MY FIRST IMPRESSIONS.

The following article was read before the Greenville Sunday School by Mr. Matthew Taylor, on July 15th, 1906:

It seems there is a notion among those who hold to no religion, that to accept what purports to be revealed truth, narrows the mind and thought, and substitutes for the stern realities of life, with its practical, material problems, a narrow, artificial theory, and leads the mind from its proper grappling with facts as they are to a dreamy assurance in things which are only supposed to be. I was almost of a similar opinion at one time, partly owing to what I considered inconsistencies in the professions and actions of church members, and the doubts I entertained as to the true church, and partly on account of the seeming impossibilities set forth in the Scriptures, such as "Love ye your enemies." Do good to those who despitefully use and abuse you. Judge not that ye be not judged," and perhaps many other passages I could not understand and rightly comprehend and had it not been for the admonition and instruction of my dear old mother during childhood, I would doubtless have become confirmed in the opinions of those who opposed religion.

Now let me digress long enough to say that this is one of the best evidences why parents should make impressions favorable to religion and the teaching of the Bible on the minds of their children when young, for there comes a time in the life of almost every person, when the good impressions made on their mind by their parents or nearest friend during childhood, will have a ruling effect on their lives. And this impresses the fact that parents and friends of the children should attend Sunday School with them, for we know when the mind turns back to our childhood on any subject, that every one connected with it in any way is remembered and has their influence in our thoughts. We also know that all the kindness shown to children during infancy is remembered through life and has a good effect, except it becomes obscured by prejudices inculcated by some one who harrows up the wrongs of others, and prides himself on his prospects of eternal life, because he has never been guilty of committing certain crimes which he attributes to others, forgetting that the words of the poet are applicable to all. "It was for the crimes that I have done, He groaned upon the tree."

The appearance of children should be a pleasure to all people with good intentions, for Christ says: "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven." They are a sample of the inhabitants of heaven, and impress the fact that their salvation lies in ignorance of the evil they do.

The Sabbath School should be a place for the cultivation of brotherly love and for the instruction and edification of all concerned. If the lessons assigned do not furnish the information desired by any one on any subject, they should submit their question orally or in writing, and the entire school should take an interest in studying it in the light of the Scriptures, and in giving as near as possible a clear and satisfactory answer. In this way all may become interested, and all benefited. For it frequently happens that the lesson assigned is mostly historical and fails to give the information desired, but no question should be propounded merely for the sake of argument, or to reflect on the actions or religious opinions of any one. If it has such tendency, it should be rejected by the superintendent immediately on hearing it stated or read. But to return to my subject, as I grew older, with the responsibilities of a family resting upon me, I began to consider more seriously what might be the future condition of the human race, and I found that if the opinions of those who opposed religion were correct, our visions were hemmed in by the natural world and we could not go beyond it. That to our mind, comes with our duties a relation to the complex problems of human life, man with man and man with nature. I could see them as now, the conflict of selfishness and the anguish it brings. I could see the greed of the rich and the envy of the poor, and the pride and heart burnings thus caused. I could see the success of deceitful arts, and the grinding of the faces of the poor. I saw our best men as we thought, formulate plans for the amelioration of the conditions of poverty, but found them frustrated in many instances, by hypocrisy. I saw laws formulated to restrain the encroachments of monopoly, but found them vain against wealth which makes or buys legislatures and juries, and beyond all, I found the world inadequate to satisfy my desires.

I found youth passing away, and the walls of the flesh closing in continually, and that the world is a prison to those who have no hope beyond, for at the end of all there is nothing but darkness and the oblivion of the grave. Beyond this darkness and oblivion, science and worldly experience can do nothing, neither can hold out any hope except a vague existence in the memory of others.

Having considered the subject as before stated, and come to the conclusion aforesaid, I began seriously to consider the probabilities of a future state and came to the conclusion that if Revelation be what it is claimed to be, that through the walls of the prison of this life are dissolved, and the horizon of our minds broadened to take in another and higher world of thought and motive for action, and from which, the contradictions of this world are reconciled and the dark places illuminated. So I attended church regularly and put to what means I could to aid in building a new church and for the advancement of the cause generally. It was not long till I came to the conclusion that the future life is not some indefinite future vagueness; it is, "To-day if you will hear His voice harden not your hearts." I was baptized, and joined the Christian church, but my expectations were not realized for I had expected to be able to go on my way rejoicing as a Christian full of hope, but such was not the case, I only felt under greater obligations to strictly obey all the commandments set forth in the law, which I felt that I could not do, owing to natural tendencies to evil, over which, in many instances I had no control, consequently I had doubts. I did not then, nor for a long time afterward, understand that he that believes and is baptized, calling on the name of the Lord, is not under the law, but under grace, and that it is the spirit and not the better that maketh alive, and that the law was weak in this, that it could not cleanse the people of their sins, and that Christ came to supply that deficiency by shedding His blood upon the cross, for it is the blood of Christ that cleanses from all sin.

When I came to understand, as I thought the plan of salvation, I could see clearly that Christ had paid the penalty of my redemption by shedding his blood upon the cross for the redemption of all men. And then it was I saw plainly I could not do anything whatever to merit salvation except believe on Jesus as the son of the living God and submit to his requirements in order that I might place myself under his care without attempting to save myself by obedience to the laws and commandments of Moses. It was then too, I could comprehend to some extent the difference between the moral laws and the laws of God in reference to the saving of souls. I could see that the laws of Moses were very exacting and that a penalty was attached to any and all of them, while the laws of grace were not so exacting. In fact, I found no unconditional penalties attached to the commandments and laws of Christ after we have put our trust in him and submitted to his requirements in order to get in to his Kingdom on earth, and this from the fact that we then have an advocate with the Father and if we should fail to comply strictly with his commands we are pardoned through this advocate so long as we put our trust in him.

Christ said "If ye love me, keep my commandments." He also said: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, with all thy soul, with all thy mind, with all thy strength, and thy neighbor as thyself." But he added no penalty and Paul seeing that man with his hereditary tendencies to evil, connected with his natural surroundings here on earth, would never obey this command to an extent he would be satisfied, modified it by declaring that we may know that we have passed from death unto life because we love the brethren."

I learned further that it is by grace we are saved, through faith, and that not of ourselves, it is the gift of God. I found likewise that my first impression concerning my inability to comply strictly with the law was correct, from the fact that Paul an inspired writer says: "For that which I do I allow not, for what I would that do I not, but what I hate, that do I." He further says: "With the flesh I serve the law of sin, but with the mind the law of God." Then I saw that the positive declaration. "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved," could not be obscured by any act except a desertion of the cause of Christ for he has assumed all the responsibility of saving us after we have become members of his Kingdom on earth if we only put our trust in him. Then I felt that I had full confidence in all his promises and rejoiced, as I had expected to be able to do at first, in full hope of joys eternal after I have laid down this mortal coil.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE.

No girl or woman, however closely guarded, can escape the possibility which may arise of having to care for herself, and perhaps others, at some turn of the tide of fortune. No one who has closely observed the struggles of women in a large city, to earn a living, can fail to note the peculiar hardships of married women suddenly forced from the home into bread-winning. In most large cities there are thousands of women from the age of forty years upward, unskilled in any business or trade, who are forced by some necessity to engage in gainful occupations. Many of these women are wives or widows, who, long past the age when they might rightly have been contented to go out into the world and work, have suddenly found themselves forced out of the home to seek employment in order to support small children or a disabled or invalid husband, without having had the least training in any business or trade.

Luckiest Man in Arkansas.

I'm the luckiest man in Arkansas," writes H. L. Stanley, of Bruno, "since the restoration of my wife's health after five years of continuous coughing and bleeding from the lungs; and I owe my good fortune to the world's greatest medicine, Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which I know from experience will cure consumption if taken in time. My wife improved with first bottle and twelve bottles completed the cure." Cures the worst coughs and colds or money refunded At T. E. Paul's, druggist. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

When the average man does you a favor he never lets you know it.

WISE OR OTHERWISE.

Never judge a man's worth by the taxes he pays.

The school of experience is open 24 hours each day.

A very young man likes to be mistaken for a cynic.

Jokes we enjoy most are those on the other fellow.

Nothing pleases some people more than to be misunderstood.

It doesn't take a young man long to distance his income.

Milk of human kindness is never run through a cream separator.

The Yellow Fever Germ has recently been discovered. It bears a close resemblance to the malaria germ. To free the system from disease germs the most effective remedy is Dr. King's New Life Pills. Guaranteed to cure all diseases due to malaria poison and constipation. At T. E. Paul's drug store.

NOTES ON SHEEP.

Fatten the lambs well before sending to market.

Ground feed will not be lost on the lambs now.

Ventilation should be provided, but direct drafts avoided.

The remaining part of the crop can be pulled before frost and stored for winter food.

To give best results not over fifty members of mutton sheep should be penned together.

Turnips may be made use of as a fall feed. Turn the flock into the field and let them cut the turnips.

Rough hillsides, if they are covered with rich grasses, make the very best pasture land for sheep.

All flocks should be graded according to age, size and condition as far as is practicable.

The most unfavorable conditions under which sheep can be grown is to constantly subject them to feeding on low marshy pastures.

Medium sized sheep usually have the best and heaviest fleeces.

One good sheep will usually bring in more profit than two poor ones. Usually the poor ones are kept at a loss.

The best fleece will ever be the mark of the best sheep, provided, of course, that it has a good thrifty form.

The fleece and the carcass make up the sheep and if either is inferior, the sheep is inferior, no difference how good the other may be.

The end in view in keeping sheep is profit, and the question is how best to conduct the business to obtain a profit from the growing of wool or mutton.

Keep the best animals in the most economical manner and so breeding and manipulating the flock and fleece as to secure the best price for what is sent to market.

As far as can be done, the flock should be selected and culled so that there will be but one grade of wool—well treated fleeces—as no matter how meritorious each may be, the best prices cannot be realized.

To know how to care for sheep so as to make them grow the largest and finest fleeces and the most vigorous lambs is the most important part of flock management.—EX.
